

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An image processing apparatus with a hidden control panel. The image processing apparatus includes a main body, a control panel, and an internal storage slot formed in the main body. The control panel includes a keyboard for being inputted instructions for operating the image processing apparatus. The control panel may be inserted or hidden into the internal storage slot. The display panel displays the inputting instructions and the status of the image processing apparatus.

* * * * *